RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences
Department of Italian

Da nemico ad alleato:
integrare l'intelligenza artificiale nelle classi di italiano

Corso di formazione e aggiornamento per docenti di Italiano

The Rutgers University - Department of Italian in cooperation with the Consulate General of Italy in New York invites applications from Teachers of Italian to the online course Da nemico ad alleato: integrare l'intelligenza artificiale nelle classi di italiano, taught in Italian and directed by Professor Carmela Scala. The course will have four online synchronous classes and some asynchronous components. We strongly encourage Teachers of Italian (K-12) from the Tri-State area to apply. However, the course is open to teachers of all backgrounds and based in different areas of the United States, Italy, and the world. This workshop counts for professional development hours.

If you have any question on the course, please contact our speaker, Professor Carmela Scala (carmela.scala@rutgers.edu). To register, please contact rosario.scalia@rutgers.edu by November 30th 2023. We will select a total of 20 participants.

The schedule of the course is the following:
December 2: Synchronous Class (8:30-10:30 AM-EST) – Why is AI making me anxious?
December 9: Asynchronous Module Deadline
December 16: Synchronous Class (8:30-10:30 AM-EST) – Using AI from a teacher perspective
January 6: Asynchronous Class Module Deadline
January 13: Synchronous Class (8:30-10:30 AM-EST) – Using AI from a student perspective
January 20: Asynchronous Module Deadline
January 27: Synchronous Class (8:30-10:30 AM-EST) – Think and Share